HARPER'S WEEKLY FOR 1864.—VOLUME VIII.

The Eighth Annual Volume of HARPER'S WEEKLY is completed with the present Number. The foregoing General Index and Index to Illustrations will give an idea of the extent and value of its Literary and Pictorial Contents.

It has been the aim of the Publishers to furnish a periodical which should treat of every topic which interests intelligent and cultivated readers. For four years the public thought has centred upon the great war now waging. Harper's Weekly has aimed from the outset to furnish, with pen and pencil, a complete view of the events and scenes of this great struggle, with Portraits of the men who have borne and are bearing prominent parts in it. Fully One Thousand Illustrations have been given, tending to illustrate the war. The present Volume contains more than Five Hundred Illustrations of this class, among which are at least one hundred Portraits of Soldiers and Statesmen.

When the war broke out the Publishers deemed it their duty to take a clear and decided stand upon this subject and all questions directly connected with it. The Paper has advocated the National Cause, wholly irrespective of mere party grounds. It has given a firm and cordial support to the present Administration, because, in the judgment of its Proprietors and Conductors, President Lincoln and his Cabinet have honestly and earnestly endeavored to uphold the supremacy of the Constitution, and to secure the perpetuity of the Union. It would have supported any National Administration which should have honestly and wisely aimed at these paramount ends. It would have opposed, and will oppose, any Administration which fails to do this.

While Harper's Weekly has thus taken a decided part in the political events of the day, it has not lost sight of its original design as a Literary Paper. Every Number has contained Tales, Poems, and Essays, by the ablest American and European writers.

The Publishers believe that the Paper possesses a permanent as well as temporary value. Every page has therefore been electrotyped, so that they are able at any time to supply any Volume or Number from the commencement.

Each Volume, containing all the Numbers for a year, commencing with the 1st of January, neatly bound in cloth, will be furnished for Six Dollars, and will be sent by Express, freight paid by the Publishers, to any part of the United States reached by Express, within the distance of three thousand miles from New York.
